THE ART OF THE UNMEASURED PRELUDE

FOR HARPSICHORD

France 1660 - 1720

ED 12226 £60
ISBN 0 946535 15 9
(3 Volumes in Slip Case)

Facsimiles, modern transcriptions and commentary in English and German.
Edited by Colin Tilney

This publication in three volumes (facsimiles, modern transcriptions and commentary) offers a carefully considered text of all the most important French unmeasured preludes for harpsichord: the sixteen in manuscript by Louis Couperin and the twenty-one printed in French harpsichord books from Lebegue in 1677 to Siret in 1719. In addition, a number of anonymous manuscript preludes, some of them previously unpublished, have been included for their instructive value as examples of contemporary improvisation. This edition, the first to unite all the major preludes, has three chief aims: first, to provide a convenient comparative survey of some beautiful but puzzling music; secondly, to supply a practical basis for its wider performance; and lastly, to evoke something of the elegance of the best originals in the layout and execution of the modern score.

Available from all good music shops.
